LYNCHBURG, VA. (NCBWA) – A total of 32 standout freshmen college baseball players from every part of the country are featured on the 2016 National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association (NCBWA) Freshman All-American Team, the organization announced today.

The 2016 NCBWA Freshman All-American Team features players from 19 conferences and six conference championship teams. Nine players on the squad are members of teams which advanced to NCAA Super Regionals.

The two All-American teams are also made up of 15 conference “Rookie of the Year” winners. In addition, two conference “Player of the Year” and 19 all-conference honorees appear on the team.

TCU placed three players on the squad, one on the first team and two on the second. Houston was the only other school with multiple players selected to the team, with one on first team and one on second team. 29 schools placed at least one player on the team and the first team consists of 16 players from 16 different schools.

The Big 12 led all conferences with five players selected to the two teams combined, putting two on the first team and three on the second team. The SEC placed four players on the team, leading all conferences with three first-team selections. Meanwhile, the ACC and Ohio Valley Conference both placed three players on the two teams.

The 2016 NCBWA National Freshman Player of the Year and National Freshman Pitcher of the Year will be announced on Tuesday, June 14.

Founded in 1962, the NCBWA is dedicated to the advancement of college baseball. Membership is open to writers, broadcasters and publicists of the sport. For more information about the NCBWA, visit the association's official Web site, www.ncbwa.com.
